VT AJ Bell Cautious Q1 2022 Report

Commentary

With the Russian invasion of Ukraine destabilising Europe, stock markets around the world suffered a dip this quarter. Despite usually playing the role of a 'safe-haven' asset in times of crisis, bonds also performed poorly. This is because markets feared persistent inflation, which can be mitigated by central banks raising interest rates – and as rates raise, bond prices fall. As expected, in March 2022 the Bank of England raised the base rate in the UK to 0.75%. But as most overseas markets struggled, UK stock markets enjoyed a positive return of 2.9%. This is thanks to a large proportion of companies in the FTSE 100 being in industries like mining and energy, which can pass on cost increases to customers. This offers investors some protection from inflationary pressures.

The Cautious fund holds mostly bonds, which are diversified across domestic and international markets. Overall, the fund ended the quarter down -2.4%, bringing the 12-month total return to 2.4%.
